Local recycling efforts equal rewards for many

BY TRACI BONNEY

Local residents continue to wage war on garbage, with some help from Gulf Coast Recycling.

In addition to the Bay Vista and Sacred Heart centers in Biloxi, Gulf Coast Recycling (a non-profit organization) has a center in Waveland and a pick-up program for north Hancock County called Kiln Recycling-Center-On-Wheels.

The Waveland center, located on Hwy. 90 east of Lydia's Audubon Shoppe, opened in February. It is open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., and Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon.

According to a report released in September, the center averaged 90 to 100 customers a week in August. The center took in, from its opening until August, 263,373 pounds (or 131.7 tons) of recyclables.

The Kiln Recycling-Center-On-Wheels was started in July as a cooperative project between GCR and the county road department. It operates the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those wanting to donate recyclables may drop them in the center's barrels any time.

From July to August, the Kiln center took in 3,733 pounds, or 1.86 tons, of recyclables.

Another facet of GCR's ongoing battle against garbage is the organization's group recycling program. Local schools, church and civic organizations can raise funds and help protect the environment through recycling.

According to a press release from GCR director Kay Hoffman, GCR services to groups may include pick-ups, program design and development, "top-dollar" rates for recyclables, cash or t-shirt incentive programs, educational programs and resources, technical assistance, a mobile recycling unit, charitable donation credit systems, free advertising and/or processing recycling collections.

Several local private schools participate in group recycling programs. Coast Episcopal Day School, Our Lady Academy, St. Stanislaus, Bay Catholic Elementary and St. Claire's Catholic School are among those who recycle.

A GCR spokesperson said more public and private schools are turning to GCR each day for assistance in starting recycling programs.

For those who want to start recycling, GCR offers the following tips:

Aluminum cans — rinse cans and leave tabs on cans if possible;

Glass — throw away lids, rinse glass thoroughly (labels may be left on);

Newspaper — tie securely into manageable bundles or pack neatly in brown paper sacks;

Mixed paper, magazines and cardboard — tie in secure bundles or pack neatly and compactly in cardboard boxes;

Plastic soft drink bottles — remove all metal rings; remove Tom and Cindy Landrum believe everything deserves a second chance — even garbage. As a result, they are going to the streets in the cause of recycling.

Starting October 11, Landrum Recycling Services (LRS) will collect aluminum cans, glass bottles (green, brown and clear), paper (news, computer and white ledger) and plastic bottles, at road side once a week.

According to a brochure for LRS, participants in the service are asked to donate a 50-cent check each week toward the cost of picking up and readying recyclables for marketing.

"We are dedicated to cleaning up and reducing the impact of solid waste on our environment," the Landrums state in their brochure.

LRS will depend on cooperation from participants in operating the service after its startup, but plans are in the making to provide a container for each resident in the service to collect recyclables.

For more information about LRS, those interested can call 467-9428.

Fire, insurance officials to tour county stations

BY TRACI BONNEY

County fire marshal Jay Marsh said Friday that several state officials will participate in a VIP tour of all fire stations in Hancock County Tuesday, Oct. 9.

The tour will start at 8:15 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. with a news media conference at the courthouse. Those participating include the state insurance commissioner, state fire coordinator, director of the State Insurance Rating Bureau and the director of Volunteer Fire Service for the State Fire Academy.

Marsh said the tour is not mandated by state law, but was requested by the county.

"Hopefully, this tour will enhance future insurance ratings for our county."

"Some of our volunteer fire stations should be applying for lower insurance rates in the next couple of years. When they do, the state insurance officials will already know where we are, what we're doing and what we're working on. That should help us in obtaining the lower rates."

Marsh said he issued the invitations for the tour at a meeting earlier in the year, when insurance officials informed Marsh and fire marshals from other counties that they would be interested in touring stations in some areas.

Chamber to host political forum

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Waveland residents will have an opportunity to hear candidates for office in two Tuesday night forums at the Hancock County Civic Center, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

On October 16, persons seeking the position of alderman will each be allowed five minutes to state a platform. A question and answer period will follow each candidate's presentation.

Mayoral candidates will be presented October 23, and will be allowed 10 minutes each to discuss platform issues. A question and answer period will follow.

Voters are requested to submit questions in writing on a 3" x 5" index card to be presented at the door on the evening of the forum.

Chamber president Randy Castello will serve as moderator.

For additional information, contact Olivia Roland, chamber executive director, 467-9048.

Hancock squirrel season opens Saturday, Oct. 27

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Squirrel hunting season for Hancock County and all Zone 3 area will open on October 27, reported Ronald Ladner, district manager for the Mississippi State Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Ladner specified, "Zone 3 is south of Highway 84 and east of I-55."

An article in the Sea Coast Echo on Thursday, October 4 reported that squirrel season "opened last weekend".

Zone 1, the northern part of the state opened squirrel season on September 29. Zone 2, the middle area of Mississippi opened October 13.

All three areas end squirrel season on January 31, and the daily bag limit on squirrels is eight, throughout the state.

'Early Education Monday' resumes at Stennis Space Center

An educational project designed to create excitement in the space program for preschool and kindergarten age youngsters resumes Oct. 15 at Stennis Space Center's Visitors Center.

"Early Education Monday" began in March as a pilot program to enhance awareness in space science at a level that is easily understood by four and five year olds.

Activities, demonstrations and lectures have been designed to make learning fun and to create an interest in the U.S. space program for young people.

By the time the program went on summer hiatus in June, approximately 1,200 children had participated.

"We are pleased with the overwhelming popularity of this program and for the opportunity to reach even more of our visiting student groups," said Cheryl Bennet of Stennis Space Center's Visitors Center.

The school groups are treated to a 4½ hour session filled with activities for children. The program begins with a lecture covering the different segments of the Space Shuttle, followed by a skit on how to become an astronaut.

The children also participate in coordination exercises and other hands-on activities designed to stimulate the imagination.

The early education program, held every Monday in the Visitors Center, will continue through Dec. 17. The program will resume again Jan. 7, 1991, and conclude the end of May.

For further information on Early Education Monday, contact the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center at (601) 688-2370 or 688-2322.

Breast cancer

Disease strikes sisters, mother in BaySide Park woman's family

BY JANET MCQUEEN
BaySide Park resident Elizabeth Medina's family has borne out American Cancer Society statistics—breast cancer is often hereditary.

Medina, who has taken her maiden name following a divorce, lost her mother, Elizabeth Medina, in 1980 to cancer which recurred after a 1976 mastectomy. She suspects her grandmother also suffered from the disease.

Medina's two younger sisters, Rose Berthelot and JoAnn Pinkerton have both been through mastectomies and months of chemotherapy. A third sister, Maria Burkhardt, suffered precancerous conditions which encouraged her to have her breasts removed and replaced with implants before falling victim to the same fate.

Although the decision was a traumatic one, Burkhardt has no regrets. She notes since her major threat is gone, she can lend more support to her two ailing sisters.

Medina, 57, is painfully aware of the necessity of self-examination, as recommended by the American Cancer Society, as well as routine mammograms and yearly examination by a physician.

A lump she detected last spring through self-examination proved to be benign, but emphasized the importance for constant monitoring when the disease has been so frighteningly close to those she loves.

Berthelot, 52, has completed one of two bone marrow transplants from her own marrow at M. D. Anderson Cancer Treatment Center in Houston. If successful, the transplants should overpower a tumor still present after the mastectomy and nine chemotherapy treatments.

Pinkerton, 49, was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1986. A mastectomy and 11 chemotherapy treatments later, the Denver resident learned the cancer spread to many other parts of her body.

A bone marrow transplant was impossible, because her own marrow was too contaminated to use. Another procedure, stem cell separation, will be attempted.

In the cell separation, immature blood cells are gathered to create healthy cells. The process costs in excess of $100,000 and is considered experimental by some insurance companies, including hers.

Pinkerton plans to mortgage her home to pay for the operation at M. D. Anderson. Berthelot did the same, after her insurance company refused to pay.

A visibly shaken Medina relates her family's story with sadness, but with determination that others should know the toll that can be taken by the insidious disease.

October is breast cancer detection awareness month

About one out of 10 women will develop breast cancer at some time during her life. There were an estimated 142,000 breast cancer cases in the United States during 1989; approximately 1,100 of them in Mississippi.

Warning signals of breast cancer include: breast changes that persist such as a lump, thickening, swelling, dimpling, skin nodule discharge, pain or tenderness.

Risk factors include being older than 50 years; having a personal or family history of breast cancer; never having children or having a first child after age 30.

The American Cancer Society recommends the monthly practice of breast self-examination by women 20 years and older as a routine health habit. Most breast lumps are not cancer, but only a physician can make a diagnosis. Have an annual annual examination by a physician.

Mammography, a low-dose x-ray examination, is recommended for women age 35-39, baseline; for women aged 40-49, every 1-2 years; for women aged 50 or older, every year.

If breast cancer is diagnosed, the five-year survival rate for localized breast cancer has risen from 78 percent in the 1940's to 90 percent today. If the breast cancer is not invasive, the survival rate approaches 100 percent; if the cancer has spread, however, the rate is 60 percent.

Several methods of treatment may be used depending on the individual woman's preference and medical situation—surgery varying from local removal of the tumor to mastectomy, radiation therapy, chemotherapy or hormone treatment.

Garcia seeks Ward One Alderman seat

Jeanne Garcia of Waveland has announced her candidacy for alderman, Ward One, in the Nov. 6 Democratic primary election.

Garcia is a native of New Orleans, La., and has resided in Waveland for the past 30 years. She was married to the late Chamber of Commerce for four years and was named Director of the Month six times. She also participated in the Job Training Partnership Act program.

She served on the Governor's Conference on Tourism from 1982 to 1984, and she is a charter member of VFW Post 3253 Auxiliary, serving as president four years, for which she received the "Outstanding President of Year" award several times. She is currently president of the auxiliary.

The candidate is a member of American Legion Auxiliary Post 139 and a lifetime member of the DAV Auxiliary and has served as commander. She is a past member of the Exchange Club of Hancock County. She is a member of the local Lions Club and a lifetime member of the VFW National Home.

Garcia served as a pageant judge for Mississippi State Parks for five years. She was recognized by Gov. William Winter in 1983 for outstanding service to the State of Mississippi and the local community.

She served on the Mississippi World's Fair Committee 1983 to 1984.

She attends St. Clare Catholic Church and is an active member of St. Vincent de Paul Society. She owns and operates Jeanne's Gift Shop in Waveland.

"Due to my experience with my own business, the Red Cross and varied organizations, I feel I have the knowledge and ability to work towards the betterment of the community and to serve the constituents of Ward One," stated Garcia.

JEANNE GARCIA

Richard J. Garcia and has two daughters, Mrs. Earlene Hardie and Charlene Garcia, and two grandchildren, all of Waveland.

She serves as director of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Garcia served on the board of directors for the Hancock

Can Arthritis Really Be Cured?

It's a simple question, one we're asked all the time. The answer is yes. And no.

The first thing we need to find out is what kind of arthritis you have. As in all fields of medicine, making the right diagnosis comes before prescribing the right treatment.

As rheumatologists, we're M.D.s trained and Board Certified in Internal Medicine and, in Dr. Marielisa Sedrish's case, in Pediatrics as well. After completing the exhaustive training required to become a "primary care physician" (e.g. Internist, Pediatrician, Family Practitioner), a physician must dedicate at least two more years studying arthritis and immune diseases to become a rheumatologist.

That time is spent recognizing and treating the dozens of different types of arthritis. And by narrowing the field of study to one area, it becomes possible to keep up with all the research into new treatments of these crippling diseases.

Working with your primary care doctor, we may be able to get your arthritis under control and prevent it from doing further damage. And if yours is one of the curable forms of arthritis, such as Lyme Disease, then of course the news is even better.

The Our Lady Academy International Food Fest continues today from noon until 6 p.m.

The festival is being held on the grounds adjacent to Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

All types of foods will be available, including American, Italian, Western, Greek, Oriental, Cajun and Mexican favorites.

Along with the above will be seafood which is always popular in this area.

I know the foods were very good last year, and I know the folks at Our Lady Academy have been working very hard in preparation for this year's event.

I hope to see you at the Food Fest Sunday afternoon.

In recognition of St. Francis of Assisi and his patronage of all animals, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Johnson will give blessings this afternoon at 1:30 p.m. in front of Christ Episcopal Church, Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

This ceremony is popular in many cities of the United States, and I hope there will be a large attendance.

All types of pets are encouraged to bring their owners.

If you want to see some interesting type of craft work, visit the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis during the month of October.

Local resident Roy Dedeaux, has on exhibit some of his work of match sticks which he has brought together as ships and fishing boats.

I have seen his work, and it is very a interesting hobby.

It always amazes me the many things a person can use to create things of beauty.

Election day for the qualified electors of the City of Waveland is fast approaching as November 6 is only a few weeks away.

It has been many years since such a large number of persons seek office in Waveland.

The one thing I am hoping for is that all of the qualified electors will make it a point to be in Waveland for the primary election and cast his or her ballot for the candidates of their choice.

This, too, will hold true for the general election to follow in the month of December.

As many of you know, this is Adopt-a-Dog Month and the time when many homeless dogs find a new owner.

The Waveland Animal Shelter offers free gifts with every dog adopted during the month of October.

If you have been wanting to adopt a dog for companionship and never have really taken the time to do so, this would be a good time.

For further information call 467-0230 or visit the animal shelter on Gulfside Drive behind the Waveland Fire Department. The hours are Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Monday 9 a.m. to noon.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator
Thad Cochran

Senator praises Head Start program

Senator Thad Cochran praised the Head Start program during final passage this week in the United States Senate of a bill to reauthorize the 25-year-old program.

"I can say from my experiences in visiting Head Start centers in my state that this program has made a very worthwhile and important contribution to the early age development of many children in Mississippi," Cochran said.

Cochran, a co-sponsor of the reauthorization bill, is member of the Labor and Human Resources Committee. The legislation also includes authority for a number of grants to community organizations which are sponsoring programs to improve parenting skills.

"In effect, Cochran said, "this is designed to help parents be better parents."

The Senate's bill will expand the services and programs of the pre-school education program for needy families as part of the "Human Services Reauthorization Act of 1990."

The bill also requires that by 1994, each Head Start classroom must have at least one teacher with Child Development Associate credentials.

During the debate of the bill, Senator Cochran advised his Senate colleagues that the 25th anniversary of the Head Start program would be celebrated at ceremonies in Holly Springs, Miss., on Oct. 26.

"We want on that occasion to remind everybody of the importance of supporting this important education, health care and nutrition program that has meant so much to so many over this period of time," said Cochran. "I am happy to be among the committee members who are recommending this legislation to the Senate," he added.

The "Human Services Reauthorization Act" now goes to a conference committee, to which Senator Cochran was appointed, to resolve differences with a House passed bill. It will then be presented to the President.

Red Cross blood drive is Wednesday

To the Editor:

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post 139, Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, Oct. 10 from 1 to 7 p.m.

Our quota for this blood drawing is 100 units.

We know the public is aware of the importance to the life and health of our community to have blood available at all times, and that to do this we need your help.

Anyone who is physically able and 17 years old or older may come in Wednesday, Oct. 10, and donate a unit of blood.

Precious pets free for asking at Waveland shelter

Dear Editor,

The tenth annual Adopt-a-Dog Month campaign kicks off this October, and instead of thinking about trick-or-treating, falling leaves and chilly breezes, think about the 13 million homeless puppies and dogs that end up in animal shelters each year.

The past nine years of the Adopt-a-Dog campaign have proven to be very successful. More than one half million dogs have been adopted!

Meaty Bone Dog Biscuits and Jerky Treats Dog Snacks sponsor Adopt-a-Dog Month each year on behalf of more than 1,000 shelters nationwide, including Waveland's own animal shelter.

As an extra incentive to dog lovers, the Waveland Animal Shelter will provide a doggie bag full of treats and surprises to anyone who adopts a dog during October.

Anyone interested in adopting a pet is invited to visit our facility at 322 Gulfside Drive in Waveland from Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Monday 9 a.m. to noon.

Sincerely,
Lisa A. Hall

No blood should be shed over loss of Kuwait

To the Editor,

Did the Bush administration intentionally lie to Saddam Hussein or was it irresponsible diplomacy?

It has been reported in the news media that the American ambassador told Saddam shortly before the invasion of Kuwait that America would not get involved in their dispute with Kuwait.

It is all too obvious now that we did get involved.

Did we inadvertently invite Saddam to take Kuwait or was it a well-thought-out plan to boost the price of oil in order to create another oil boom in Texas?

Are we willing to shed our blood for Exxon and Texas? I think the American people gave President Bush a 75 percent approval rating before getting all the facts, and I think the news media is doing a poor job of dispersing the facts to the American people.

Are we and the news media afraid that we will be accused of being disloyal if we oppose the administration? There are too many lives at stake to take that attitude.

Regardless of how Saddam got Kuwait, let him keep it. I don't approve of shedding our blood to rescue the royal family of Kuwait, especially since I don't have all the answers as to how the invasion came about in the first place.

Retirement credit should be offered to state employees called to military service

Dear Editor:

The current crisis in the Middle East has drawn attention to state law as it exists, which provides that any member of the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS), as of July 1, 1984, who served in the armed forces of the United States on or before May 25, 1975 (the end of the Vietnam War) or in maritime service in World War II, shall be entitled to credit for his period of duty, provided such person entered state service upon honorable discharge, up to a maximum of four years.

The law, as written, contains no provision to grant retirement credit to present reservists and guardsmen called to active duty to serve our country's interests in the Middle East, or in any future situation deemed as critical matter of national interest.

I do not believe it should be the policy of this state to deny

Sam Benigno, well-known trucker on Felicity Street, where his farm is a model of thrift and industry, was painfully hurt Wednesday evening during the storm, and as a result is seriously ill at his home. A large barn, one of unusual size, was demolished to the ground at about 6 o'clock, falling on two horses taken there for shelter from the blinding rain—one belonging to Benigno, and the other to B. Montleone, whose team was passing by and the driver stopped to give the horse shelter. Both animals were of splendid type, high priced, and the loss is quite deplorable to both owners. The barn was new, recently built to replace the former one destroyed by fire and on which an insurance policy had expired only a few days before.

I believe I speak for all Mississippians when I say that we are especially proud of those individuals currently in the service of our country in the deserts of Saudi Arabia, whether they serve as members of the Reserves or in the ranks of our Guard; and that we understand that it is through the sacrifices of these individuals and others like them, that we continue to enjoy the free-

Hancock wins Division 8 title

Special to the Echo

BY PATRICK MCKEE

The Hancock Hawks flew to new heights Friday night when they defeated the St. Martin, Yellowjackets 12-7.

The homecoming victory in their brand new stadium clinched the Division 8, Class 4-A title for the Hawks.

"I never thought that I would see the day when we would win back to back division titles," said an obviously pleased head coach, Irvin Favre. "Being district champs certainly takes some of the pressure off of us."

The Hawks put the pressure on the Yellowjackets in the first quarter when linebacker Dennis Malley blocked a kick, and linebacker Richard Simmons picked the ball up and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was no good, and the Hawks led 6-0.

In the second quarter with 7 minutes left to play the Hawks swooped in for another TD, when quarterback Regan Ladner passed to runningback Terrance Goff for a 45-yard touchdown. Again the 2-point conversion attempt was no good. The Hawks went into the halftime locker room with a 12-0 lead.

In the third quarter the Hawks continued to control the ball, but they were unable to score. The fourth quarter saw St. Martin finally score when runningback Demetrius Mosley hustled into the end zone for a TD. The PAT was good, and with 4:11 to go the score was 12-7.

Momentum switched with almost every play. The Yellowjackets dug in on defense and along with penalties forced the Hawks to punt with 2:04 left in the game.

The game clincher came on the first play after the punt. Yellowjacket quarterback Josh Layton was intercepted by Regan Ladner, and the Hawks had their homecoming victory.

"We played hard the whole game," coach Favre said in a post-game interview. "This was a big win for us. We had some missed opportunities. The penalties hurt us," he added.

"We did a lot of things with our offense. We concentrated on our running game." Favre also said that he was pleased that his team was able to handle the Yellowjackets defensively.

"They're a good football team," he said referring to St. Martin. "But we were able to control their offense. We were geared to stop their run."

If not for the new sod, wet from the previous day's rain, Favre felt that his team may have been able to put more points on the scoreboard.

The statistics for both teams show that it was a close match. The Hawks had 8 first downs to the Yellowjacket's 7. Hancock outrushed their opponents 108 yards to 75. They also passed for a total of 90 yards while St. Martin accumulated 74.

Hawk runningback Terrance Goff led the rushing stats with 75 yards. Yellowjacket Demetrius Mosley rushed for 67 yards.

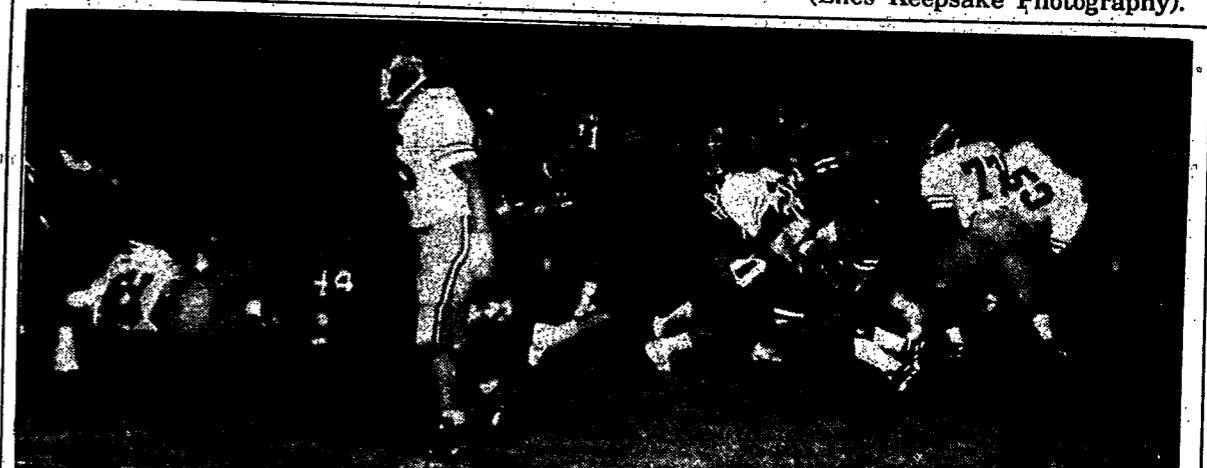

Next week the Hawks play Long Beach in an away game that kicks off at 7:30 p.m. at Long Beach.

Commenting on next week's game coach Favre said: "We'll prepare for the game like we normally do. We have a tough schedule, but we have a versatile team."

Reception

Tigers lose homecoming heartbreaker to Bearcats

Special to the Echo

BY BURT TAYLOR

The Bay High Tigers had their homecoming spoiled in a heartbreaking 21-20 loss to the Long Beach Bearcats Friday night at Joe D. McCulloch Stadium.

The Tigers opened the scoring as they took the opening kick off and marched 66 yards for a touchdown.

The key play came on a second and seven pass from quarterback Charlie Mitchell to wide receiver Mike Sharp. The play covered 48 yards to the Bearcat five yard line.

Two plays later, Mitchell snuck in from the one, for the touchdown. The PAT by Jason Loiacaño was good and early in the first quarter the Tigers led 7-0.

Long Beach came right back on the ensuing kick-off and drove 62 yards in nine plays on the running of senior quarterback Donald Lyons and junior running back Marlon Jones.

Lyons went over from the one for the score.

The PAT was good to tie the score at 7-7.

The Tigers took the Bearcats kickoff and came storming back on the next drive on the passing of Charlie Mitchell.

Mitchell hit Scott Rogers on a first down play from the mid-field stripe for 15 yards to the Bearcat 35.

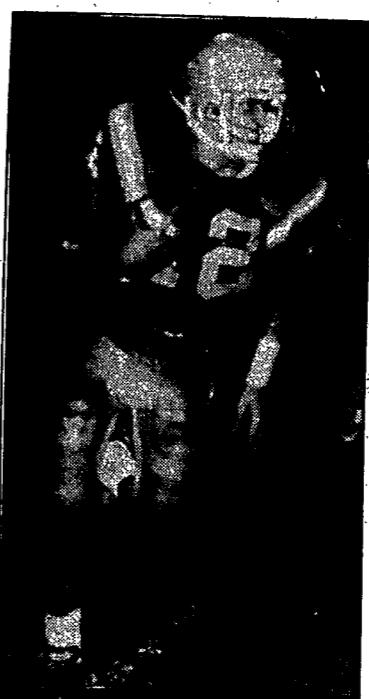

A personal foul penalty on the Bearcats moved the ball to the 20.

Three plays later Mitchell passed to Mike Sharp in the end zone from 14 yards out for the touchdown.

Once again Loiacaño's kick was good and the Tigers moved ahead 14-7 with just seconds left in the first quarter.

Neither team could mount a threat until late in the second quarter when Long Beach took over on their own 34.

Lyons passed complete to Jeff Molet for a gain of 19 to the Tiger 47.

On a half back option pass, Molet hit Sean Harden for a gain of 28 to the Tiger 19.

On the next play, Lyons passed to Josh Ellgee for the touchdown.

The PAT was good and the teams went to the locker rooms tied at 14.

The second half started with neither team scoring on their first possessions.

The Bearcats then fielded a Tiger punt on their 30 a mounted drive that would put them ahead for good.

On the running of quarter back Lyons the Bearcats moved to the Tiger 12 yard line.

Junior split end Ramon Johnson then took a pitch out and outraced Tiger defenders to the goal line for the go ahead touchdown.

The PAT was good, and late in the third quarter the Bearcats took the lead for the first time at 21-14.

Late in the fourth quarter the Tigers got their opportunity to win the game.

On the running of Rogers, sophmores Larrone Lewis and Romales Welkerson and the passing of Mitchell, the Tigers began to move.

The final play came on a first and goal, with Larrone Lewis crashing in from the two yard line to pay dirt.

The Tigers went for a two point conversion but Mitchell was knocked down behind the

The second half started with neither team scoring on their first possessions.

The Bearcats then fielded a Tiger punt on their 30 a mounted drive that would put them ahead for good.

On the running of quarter back Lyons the Bearcats moved to the Tiger 12 yard line.

Junior split end Ramon Johnson then took a pitch out and outraced Tiger defenders to the goal line for the go ahead touchdown.

The PAT was good, and late in the third quarter the Bearcats took the lead for the first time at 21-14.

Late in the fourth quarter the Tigers got their opportunity to win the game.

On the running of Rogers, sophmores Larrone Lewis and Romales Welkerson and the passing of Mitchell, the Tigers began to move.

The final play came on a first and goal, with Larrone Lewis crashing in from the two yard line to pay dirt.

The Tigers went for a two point conversion but Mitchell was knocked down behind the

Pass Pirates lose 21-14 to East Central Hornets

Special to the Echo

BY PATRICK MCKEE

The East Central Hornets stung the Pass Christian Pirates Friday night 21-14 at Wade-Hurley stadium. It was the Hornets homecoming game and the team did not let their fans down.

"They came out smoking," said Pirate assistant coach Glenn Williams. "We had our chances, but we didn't do anything."

Early in the first quarter the Pirates found themselves in trouble when their receiver dropped the ball after the kickoff. Unable to make any yardage and close to their own end zone, the Pirates attempted to punt the ball. A bad snap resulted in a safety, and the Hornets were on the scoreboard with 2 points.

The Pirates soon found themselves in trouble again. The Hornets put three more points on the board when Jason Hudson kicked a 35-yard field goal. The score now was 5-0.

Again the Pirates were unable to make things happen, and Hornet Lowry Smith ran 19 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Jason Welbourne then passed to Hudson for a 2-point conversion. By the end of the first quarter the score was 13-0.

But the Pirates refused to sink. Winfred Rials ran 24 yards for a TD, and quarterback Tracey Watts completed a pass to Ryan "Boo" Jenkins for a 2-point conversion. With the score now 13-8 the Pirates

Stanislaus defeats Salmen

Special to the Echo
BY TOM ACKERMAN

It takes more than one person to make a team. But if you're looking for a hero in the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws' Homecoming win over Salmen Friday, 6-0, it would have to be Greg Altese.

With 3:06 left in the game, the Salmen La. Spartans had an apparent score called back because the runner had stepped out of bounds on his way to the end zone.

Undaunted, the Spartans lined up on the Rock-A-Chaw 18 to begin their final drive.

Key tackles by Rock defenders Kerry Wittmann, Mark Carter, and Mike Davidge held Salmen to a four-yard gain, to the 14.

With less than two minutes in the contest, on fourth down, Spartan quarterback David Smith hurled a bomb to his intended receiver in the end zone. That's when Galen Smith saved the day. Leaping high into the air, Smith deflected the pass, giving the Rocks possession on the Salmen 14, and ending the Spartans' opportunity for a last-minute upset.

The Rock-A-Chaws' lone score came late in the first half on a two-yard run by Tate Thriffiley with 38 seconds left on the clock.

The Rock drive began on their own 16 after Salmen had faked a punt on fourth and 15. The play, however, didn't work. The Spartans managed to get the ball to the SSC 40 on the fake but were stopped in their tracks, capped by a sack of the quarterback by Wittmann and Greg Altese.

Forcing the punt, the Rocks took over on their own 16. Starting the drive, Mike Lee carried to the 22, followed by a Ken Booker run on a shuttle pass, picking up 12 yards and a first down at the 35.

Lee and Booker exchanged carries, moving the ball to the 42. From there, Lee broke loose for a 34-yard nifty running dash to the Spartan 23.

On first down, Thriffiley moved to the 18, followed by Lee picking up another first on a carry to the 11.

Ken Booker got the call on third down from the 12, taking the ball to the 2-yard line to set up the Thriffiley score.

The point-after attempt by Bubba O'Brien was wide, but the 6 points held for the SSC win.

Offensively, the Spartans outdistanced the Rocks with 235 total yards to SSC's 196, underscoring the strength of the Rock defense in breaking up the key plays.

attempts for a total of 47 yards. Salmen's Smith picked up 68 yards on 4 of 10.

The Rocks were hardest hit by penalties taking 55 yards in losses on 5 calls, while the Spartans were set back only 15 on one flag.

The win brings the Rock-A-Chaws to 4 and 2 overall, and 1-1 in district.

Next week, the Rocks face their third district foe traveling to St. Martin. The following week, SSC wraps up its district schedule against d'Iberville at home.

On Oct. 26, the Rocks host Pearl River Central, followed on Nov. 2 with an away game at St. Paul's in Covington.

Stanislaus finishes third in track meet

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The St. Stanislaus cross-country squad finished third at the Resurrection Catholic High School cross-country meet at Shepherd State Park, Gautier, Saturday morning.

This is the first cross-country trophy ever for a St. Stanislaus squad, according to Brother Patrick McGinley coach, who said: "This is a new sport for the Rocks and a team was formed only last season."

Some eight teams competed in the event with seven runners from SSC in the competition.

Brian Brooks, SSC senior, finished first overall with a time of 16:51 for the 5,000 meters; Chris Kehoe, junior finished fifth, 17:58; Trian Platz, junior, seventeenth, 19:58. Others in the race were, Drew Scafide, Frank Kerby, Philip Dunlap and Scott Marechal.

In the freshmen competition, Brian Carter finished third overall and Gilly Chamberlin fourth. Also competing in the freshmen division for Stanislaus was David Bell, seventh grader.

In the junior varsity division, SSC competitors were, Dale DeCamp, Nick Walker, Jimmy Williams and Teddy Belsom.

Next week's competition will be at Catholic High in Baton Rouge, La.

line of scrimmage before he could make a step and the score remained, Long Beach 21, Bay High 20.

The Tigers got one more chance with time running out as they drove to the Bearcats 25, only to lose the ball on downs.

Long Beach took over and ran the few remaining seconds off the clock to end the ball game.

The Tigers journey to Wiggins next week to take on the Stone County Tomcats.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

I don't have any Oompah-pah band music around the house, but I'm planning to cook up an Oktoberfest, all on my own, as soon as I pluck the necessary meat and potatoes and such, from the scores of bargains at our area supermarkets these days.

My Oktoberfest, of course, won't compare in any large way with the all-out Oktoberfest just concluded in Munich, where, so I understand, ten million eager celebrants observed this long standing tradition of Germany, festival blessing the autumn harvest (just as we have our Blessing of the Fleet ceremonies here on the Coast earlier in the season, blessing the shrimp harvest.

The Munich celebration starts earlier than our Oktoberfest observances here on the Coast, (as contributing food writer Patti Nickell pointed out in Last Thursday's New Orleans Times-Picayune.)

It starts in mid-September, Patti says, "so that 'Bavarians may get in a full two weeks of frivolity before the task of bringing in the crops officially begins—and whatever the primary reason, the Oktoberfest has evolved into Europe's biggest bash, with enormous quantities of pork knuckles and sausages and fish and chickens and such consumed, all washed down by some million-plus gallons of beer!"

Not bound by German traditions, Americans prefer to celebrate Oktoberfest during the month for which it is named; so here I am, with my own Oktoberfest, as soon as I return from shopping.

Sausages of all sorts are a bargain just now at the stores; and so are the potatoes and the cabbage and sauerkraut and veal or pork or beef so much a part of German cookery.

For instance, with boneless rump roasts and top sirloin and chuck and such a good buy, I'll cook that well-known dish, sauerbraten.

I had almost stopped trying to cook this pot roast specialty of German origin because every time I had bought the gingersnaps which are a "must" for the gravy, someone had eaten them by the time I got around to making the dish.

If that didn't happen, I'd usually forget to start marinating the meat three days ahead of time, as my recipe of years ago required. But, then met up with a sauerbraten you can cook and eat the same day, just the thing for a busy cook who likes good food!

Sauerbraten means "Sour Roast" and is nothing more than beef bathed in a sweet-sour marinade to tenderize it before you start the long, slow cooking—but, happily not long, slow watching, as it all but cooks itself!

Served with noodles, potatoes or dumplings, it's a hearty meal.

I'd been using the earlier, have-to-think-ahead method, until I came across a recipe for "Overnight Sauerkraut" which helped to make the available meat and gingersnaps come out more even, then I tried:

SAME DAY
SAUERBRATEN
4 lb. rump, blade, or chuck
1 cup water
2/3 cup vinegar

4 Tbsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. each pepper, salt
1/8 tsp. each ground cloves and allspice

1 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. ground ginger (to eliminate the gingersnap crisis)

Brown the roast in a heavy skillet or pot, in a bit of oil, or non-stick spray. Mix all other ingredients together, and pour over the meat.

Cover the pot, and simmer the meat over low heat for three hours or until fork tender, depending upon tenderness of meat. Remove the meat to a serving platter, then thicken the gravy with a little flour mixed with water as needed, simmer this and pour over the meat. Serve with noodles, boiled potatoes or dumplings, to four or six hungry diners. From my cookbook, "Katy's Cookbook, Cooking Up a Storm."

And still in the Oktober Fest mood, let's cook one of the favorites of German cookery, "Wiener Schnitzel" which was originally made with veal scallops, now often made with pork or turkey breast scallops (thin chops or pieces.) I shall make mine with some quarter-inch-thick chops or pieces sliced from one of the quarter-loins on special just now. Here's:

WIENER SCHNITZEL
2 lb. thin pork chops (6 chops, 1/4-inch thick)
Pepper, salt to your taste
3/4 cup dried bread crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
3 sliced hard-cooked eggs
a few anchovy fillets
(optional)

Bottled capers
Sprinkle scallops (cutlets) with salt and pepper, then dip into crumbs, next into beaten eggs, and again into crumbs. Let stand for 15 minutes, then saute in hot butter, in a large skillet, on both sides until golden.

Cover, and cook over low heat for half and hour until tender. Just before serving, pour lemon juice over all, and garnish with egg slices, just a few rolled anchovies and capers. (Six servings)

Cabbage is a special bargain just now, and one of my favorite ways to use cabbage is:

TANGY CABBAGE
1 small green cabbage
1 small red cabbage
1/2 pt. sour cream
1/3 cup milk
3 Tbsp. wine vinegar
1 small garlic clove, crushed
1 tsp. celery seed
1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1/2 tsp. salt

Shred the cabbage finely. Combine the sour cream, milk, vinegar, garlic, celery seed, pepper sauce and salt, and toss the shredded cabbage with the sour cream dressing. This tastes even better if you let it cool in the fridge for a half hour or so before serving. (Six to eight or a bit more generous servings)

Space is running out, so just let me mention quickly that lean ground beef is a special buy, ground round or chuck, etc., according to your choice and pocket; chicken drumsticks, as well. Sweet potatoes are also a bargain. Sweet tangerines, kiwis, and apples crowd the produce bins, along with large avocados.

German for a day

Bay St. Louis hosts Octoberfest next Saturday

BY TRACI BONNEY

Just when you thought the party was over . . .

Local residents will have a chance to try out their German next week as the City of Bay St. Louis and the Bay St. Louis Business Association host "Octoberfest 1990" Oct. 13.

The day-long event, a pilot project of the Main Street Program, will take place in the "uptown" area. Mayor Edward Favre explained the term: "The business community is positive and from now on Bay St. Louis has an 'uptown', not a 'downtown'."

Speaking of the event's connection with the Main Street Program, he added, "It is our intent to expand an existing event to give residents and visitors a reason to spend from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the heart of their city."

Mike Cuevas, clerk of the city council, said German flags will decorate Main Street and Beach Boulevard for Octoberfest 1990 and "will set a festive mood for local residents to rediscover what it is like to 'spend a day in the Bay,' which is the message tourists have received all summer."

Forty local businesses have plans to participate in the fest. Some will offer sidewalk sales and in-store bargains for early Christmas shoppers.

Bay St. Louis Business Association president Ruth Thompson said, "We encourage our local residents to spend the day in their hometown to see the variety and quality of merchandise available before they go to the malls. We understand the convenience of climate-controlled shopping; however, a little exercise in the outdoors is healthier, and our local architecture is more interesting. 'Old Town' is casual and friendly." Favre pointed out that those attending Octoberfest 1990 will help keep local money in this area while they enjoy the day's activities. "Bay St. Louis was one of the rare cities that had no tax increases. A strong local sales tax is important for our city to maintain that 'no new tax' status.

"You may not be able to find everything on your shopping list, but with a little effort you can complete 98 percent of your list here. It is important to everyone that you give Bay St. Louis the first try before you spend. Take the time to add up the costs of your travel and time expenses, higher sales tax rates, and you'll find that it is less expensive to stay home."

Both breakfast and lunch will be available to festival-goers. Proceeds from the food sales will benefit the business association's beautification project for Bay Middle School.

Thompson said, "The proceeds from this concert will put the association goal over the top, and residents will soon see construction of the new entry to the middle school grounds begin."

The climax of the day will be a free concert in City Park, beginning at 6 p.m. German music will highlight the evening, and German food — sauerbraten, rotkohl, sauerkraut, bratwurst, knackwurst, soft pretzels and German beer — will also be available. Those attending will need to bring their own blankets, chairs and tables, though.

For more information about Octoberfest 1990, call Thompson at 467-8201 or Cuevas at 467-9092.

Stennis Space Center's World Services employees earn top award

Johnson Controls World Services, NASA's support services contractor at the John C. Stennis Space Center, is the recipient of the company's Chairman's Award for Excellence in Customer Satisfaction.

Johnson Controls Inc. of Milwaukee, Wisc., and NASA recognized the 490 Stennis employees during a ceremony Oct. 1 at the space center.

World Services, formerly Pan Am World Services Inc., has been NASA's facility operations contractor for 12 years. They distinguished themselves by winning the Stennis Contract for eight more years and, for the first time, earning 100 percent of their semiannual contract award fees for two consecutive periods.

Since the chairman's award nomination, the Stennis team has earned a third consecutive 100 percent award. The new contract, which began Aug. 28 of last year, calls for the award fee to be shared equally by employees.

Their accomplishments are the result of a nine-year investment in an employee participation program called PIQE (Productivity Improvement/Quality Enhancement). More than 60 percent of the workforce participate in the program through quality circles and task teams.

Managers, supervisors and hourly employees work together to resolve problems and promote new money-saving ideas. As a result of the program, absences due to illness or personal business dropped 30 percent in 1989, for a savings of $200,000. The program has strengthened an attitude of excellence in customer service among employees.

The skills learned from the PIQE program helped the team compete for the Stennis contract renewal in 1989. More than 60 competitors requested information on the contract, and seven made the final review.

The chairman's award recognizes individual and group contributions to customer satisfaction through improvements in productivity, quality, service and timeliness.

Five chairman's awards were made this year. Recipients were chosen from hundreds of nominations submitted by company employees worldwide.

Johnson Controls, headquartered in Milwaukee, is a leader in facility management and control systems, automotive seating, batteries and plastics.

Founded in 1885, it operates 350 locations worldwide. Johnson Controls securities (JCI) are listed on the NYSE. The company employs 43,000 people and had worldwide sales of more than $3.7 billion in 1989.

OLA Food Fest continues today

The annual International Food Festival sponsored by Our Lady Academy continues today at 11 a.m.

The festival features varied food dishes, music, arts, and crafts, games and other fun-filled events.

The Food Fest was started years ago as a fund-raising event by a small group of parents, local residents and friends of Our Lady Academy. It is organized, orchestrated and operated by an all-volunteer army of teachers, parents and local friends of the school. Proceeds from the festival benefit Our Lady Academy.

Arts and crafts booths are set up on the festival grounds, and a wide variety of the world's foods are offered, including seafood, American, Greek, Mexican, Oriental, Italian and Western.

There are games for the children and all but continuous entertainment.

In what has become a local tradition, John "Chappy" Chapman, chef and owner of Chappy's Seafood Restaurant in Long Beach, will again host a booth of his famous Cajun delicacies.

Admission to the festival grounds, which are located on South Beach (next to Our Lady of the Gulf Church) is open to the public without charge.

Hancock County Historical Society

The Hancock County Historical Society will cruise to Ship Island on Saturday, Oct. 13, in place of the regular luncheon meeting, usually held on the third Thursday of each month.

Members, guests and the public are invited to participate. Special programs have been planned to emphasize the historical importance of Ship Island and Fort Massachusetts.

The group will meet at the Ship Island ferry dock in Gulfport at 8:30 a.m. Departure will be at 9 a.m. Those wishing to return on the early ferry will leave the island at 2:15 p.m., arriving at the Gulfport dock at 3:15 p.m. Those wishing to stay on the island may take the later ferry which leaves the island at 5:15 p.m., arriving in Gulfport at 6:15 p.m.

The group will gather for lunch in one of the shade pavilions on the south side of the island. Sandwiches, drinks and snacks may be purchased in the snack shop, or picnic lunches may be brought along. (No glass containers are allowed on the island.)

Those needing rides or wishing to share their cars may meet at Ruth's Bakery on Court Street in Bay St. Louis before 8 a.m. Group rates have been arranged.

Call 467-8201 to reserve a space. In the event of inclement weather the trip will be rescheduled for the following Saturday.

American Legion Post 77 Ladies Auxiliary

The Oct. 2 meeting was called to order by president Janice Carver.

Eleanor Marsh and Elaine Lytell advanced the colors, chaplain Mary Caillier read the opening prayer, and all present recited the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble.

Janice Carver read a letter from former president Mayola Rotherham, explaining her resignation after two months of service was due to illness of a family member.

Sandra Dalyrample, special education teacher from Bay Middle School, was guest speaker.

She asked for volunteers to give an hour or two a week to help with the children, as she has no teaching assistant. With volunteer help, Dalyrample will be able to give the children more individual attention. A large number volunteered.

After the various committee members gave their reports, secretary Lee Ann Sauls read letters of thanks from the food pantry, USO, Biloxi VA Hospital and others.

The auxiliary will host its annual Halloween party Oct. 31 in the Legion Hall on Coleman Avenue. All children are welcome.

An Oktoberfest will be Saturday, Nov. 3 from 5 to 11 p.m.

Hedi Klein and her helpers will serve a menu of real German food, consisting of bratwurst, smoked pork chops, frankfurters, sauerkraut, potato salad, rolls and cake at very reasonable prices.

After the closing prayer, the colors were retired. Carver closed the meeting and refreshments were served. The next meeting is Nov. 6.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The bi-annual "Miss Lena's Bingwich" hosted by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was Thursday, Sept. 27 at the Legion home. Some of the veterans of Gulfport VA Hospital and the "five-ins" in the neighborhood attended.

Lucille Boudreaux, VAVCS chairman, and volunteers Clara Arnold, Inez Bouis, Jackie Buffkin, Evelyn Burns, Mamie Carver, Shirley Clemons, Genevieve Cole, Thelma Elliott, Ursula Favre, Judy Gavney, Pat Gillan, Jeanette Ladner, Beryl Murtagh, Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts, Bobby Tomlinson, Roslyn Weathers, Lou Wilkerson and Hazel Wohlschlegel donated cakes, an assortment of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips and other goodies.

They participated in the games and helped veterans select prizes. Following the games, the ladies served refreshments.

There were some 30 veterans present who gave a round of applause to show their appreciation.

The auxiliary's regular monthly birthday party for the residents of the Hotel Reed Nursing Center was Thursday, Sept. 27, co-hosted by Oris Planchard and Roslyn Weathers.

Lena Mae Oustale played the piano and Roslyn Weathers led the singing as Oris Planchard visited with the residents.

As "Happy Birthday" was sung, the residents were handed their gifts, which were received with big smiles. Planchard and volunteers Pat Turnipseed and Juanita Seissen served refreshments, and the residents joined in the singing of familiar songs.

The dining room was decorated with colored balloons and streamers for the festivities.

Riverview Extension Homemakers

The September meeting of Riverview Extension Homemakers Club was at the home of Delores Bullitt. Sixteen members and a guest, Kay Buccola, attended. Margie Welsh presided. The educational notes were presented by Ethel Breaux on "The Living Will."

Clyde Richardson stated the hospital staff is very appreciative of what the club is doing in providing clothes for newborn babies. A collection was taken for this project.

Dolls and teddy bears to dress for the Salvation Army as gifts for needy children at Christmas time were brought to the meeting. Several volunteered to dress and return them by Nov. 5.

The state president's project for 1991 is "A Book for Each Baby Born in Mississippi" during the year. The local group will see that the hospital is supplied with books to meet this need.

The president urged everyone to get score sheets up to date. She also announced a forum on "Package Labeling" at Handboro Art Center in Gulfport on Oct. 4. She congratulated Delores Bullitt on being nominated for vice-president of the council. A nominating committee and a committee to plan the Christmas party were appointed.

The next meeting will be hosted by Cheryl Reynolds Oct. 25. A representative from the Crosby Arboretum in Picayune will be speaker.

After the meeting, Bullitt showed the group how to make some unique jewelry bags.

French exchange student shares impressions of U.S.

Editors Note: Benoit Fayet is an 18-year-old native of Carentan, France, visiting for three weeks in the United States. He is a guest in the home of Anthony and Jeannie Moran of Bay St. Louis and is studying English with Kathy Edwards, BHS French teacher.

Special to the Echo
By Benoit Fayet

It was 11:20 a.m. and the United Airlines flight 105 from Paris to Chicago took off. I checked in my bag and I had my passport. Everything was OK.

What did I take this plane to Chicago and then to New Orleans for? To improve my English, because although I've been studying this language for seven years, there is a great difference between English at school and English in the States: the way to speak is not the same.

Why did I choose the States instead of England? Because in France, American culture is everywhere (for example: movies, computers, clothes). That's why I already had some ideas about the States, and in this article I'll try to convey my first impressions of the USA.

I had images of this country by movies and soap operas (40 percent of the movies we watch are American).

We do not have a lot of American industries in France (except Ford and IBM), but the movies are enough to represent the Americans.

For example, we are used to seeing interstate traffic (in the West or in New York). On these travel all over the world to find the best deals. That's what I thought about the adults.

But in fact, even if America is a huge country, even if their cars are wider than ours in Europe, even if they always seem in action, they can find the time to receive a foreigner.

I thank particularly Mrs. Kathy Edwards and the Anthony Moran family, who have made my journey easier. Americans are not as superficial as I thought.

I imagined teenagers as children with discipline problems in school, and not much learning because of all of their extra activities.

But in fact, I realize that teenagers are serious in their work. They get good marks, although the system of tests is different from ours.

Americans choose one answer among several or fill in the blanks. In France, we have to write paragraphs about a question.

Like adults, they eat very quickly at lunch. We see American food companies (McDonald's, Burger King) in France, and although the hamburgers are made of bread and meat, they eat all the time!

And there is another difference between the States and France. Even if after school, children snack with cakes or bread with Coke or water, they won't eat potato chips, pop corn, a salad or a hamburger. We have only breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The way to dress is not different from ours. We wear jeans, T-shirts and shirts. We listen to American singers (Elton John, Madonna, Georges Michael, Pink Floyd). This kind of culture is well-accepted in France. That's why I'm not surprised by clothes and music in the States.

Last week, I went to New Orleans. I was very surprised by the beauty of this city. It's mixed up with past and future: French Quarter and old houses compared with the aquarium and modern buildings.

So as you can see, the States are different in some ways of life. Anyway, my first impressions are positive ones.

I believed that Americans didn't appreciate foreigners because of their pride in their country; however, Americans have given the best of themselves to make me welcome.

At school, the students try to talk with me. And I'm sure, I'll discover more wonderful things during my trip.

Mississippi is a people magnet.

We can tan on the beaches. We can sing the blues in the Delta. We can relive the Civil War battles in Vicksburg, or camp at Tishomingo. Mississippi is rich in things to do.

We like to share our riches through tourism. Mississippi has 300 hotel-motels and 80 camping grounds. Last year, more than 2.5 million visitors spent $1.5 billion dollars here.

One-fourth of our visitors go to the "Heartland," which is the Natchez, Vicksburg and Jackson area. Another one-fourth head to the Gulf Coast counties to soak up sunshine. The rest spread out among the Hills, the Delta and the Plains.

History is fast becoming Mississippi's key to tourism. Seven out of every 10 visitors go to our old homes, battlefields and other historic sites. We are an outdoor playground for boating, hunting and easy hiking. And our Southern cooking also draws people like a magnet.

Lettuce tossed about as fall garden idea

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

The fall vegetable garden is the one garden of the year that provides the opportunity of growing at the same time almost all, if not all, the ingredients for a tossed salad.

Just think of it—fresh garden tomatoes and sweet bell peppers from plants carried over from the spring and summer garden or plants set out especially for fall.

they were both bitter. Picking through the salad bowl in an attempt to miss the bitter greens wasn't allowed. It went on your plate and in your mouth.

A bite of radicchio today brings the childhood memo-directly in the garden row. Head lettuce and romaine take a little longer to reach maturity than the leaf types of lettuce, but they don't have to be full size to be enjoyed.

Garden lettuce can be the fall garden. There are three different leaf types: savoy (wrinkled leaf), semi-savoy and smooth. Like curly mustard and endive, savoy spinach is a sand catcher and can add an undesirable crunch to a salad. Be prepared to do a lot of washing.

Spinach seed has a hard seed coat and is slow to germinate. Germination can be accelerated by soaking the seed in water overnight before planting.

Roll the soaked seed on paper toweling before planting to partially dry the seeds and make distribution in the garden row easier.

If there is one absolute necessity for a successful fall salad garden, it's water. Seeds won't germinate and seedlings won't survive without sufficient water to keep the soil moist.

Soils that are allowed to dry and crust over the seeds can result in such a poor stand of plants that replanting is necessary.

Information on growing fall greens including turnips and mustard can be found in the "Garden Tabloid," extension publication 1091, available at your local county extension office. Stop by and pick up a copy.

Cucumber seed planted around the first of August should have strong vines and be producing crisp, green fruit. Multiplying onions or onion sets provide a source of tender, green salad onions.

Radishes can be ready in just about four weeks after planting the seed. All that's left to toss in is the lettuce and maybe carrots.

Lettuce of different types—leaf, crisphead, cos (romaine) and butterhead—can all be grown in the fall garden. The different types of lettuce offer different textures and tastes, as well as color, to salads.

There's no reason to grow just one type or use just one type of lettuce at a time. Be sure to plant at least one red leaf type.

If fun can be had with lettuce, here's the opportunity. There are now more types of salad greens to grow than ever before, and some of them you'd swear aren't meant to be eaten.

There was always a salad on mom's dinner table, and she, being of the belief that the darker the salad green the better it was for you, always mixed in a good portion of escarole. Boy, was that stuff bitter. As I recall, escarole had a flat leaf and endive had a curly leaf, and ries rushing back every time. Can you believe the ads for this stuff? One catalog includes the line, "Bitter but very appealing." Try telling that to an eight-year-old. It was always told, "But, it's good for you."

Mom used the same line for cod liver oil.

One of the nicest things about growing salad greens in the fall of the year is that as the temperature gets cooler the greens get better.

All types of lettuce can be grown from seeds sown harvested by breaking off individual leaves or by cutting or pulling entire plants.

Have you ever wondered what plants lettuce has as relatives? Probably not, but just in case you have, lettuce is related to chicory, sunflower, asters, dandelions, artichokes (another great salad ingredient) and chrysanthemums, just to mention a few.

If you like, broccoli and cauliflower can be added to our salad because they are also at their best in the fall garden. Look for transplants at your local garden centers.

Spinach is another popular salad green that does well in

Compost to save

Have you ever wondered just what to do with all those leaves, grass clippings, straw, hay, sawdust, garden waste and kitchen garbage that invariably accumulates around the yard and home?

You probably do the most logical thing and throw the stuff away. But wait a minute, this obviously dis-do, avoid using any meat products, bones or grease in your compost since these materials create a foul odor and attract unwanted creatures like rodents.

Remember, a compost pile should never smell bad. If it does have a foul smell, then you have put too much nitrogen containing or green make the material less acidic and to aid decomposition. This process should be repeated until the pile is four to five feet high.

Once this height is achieved, the top of the pile should be made concave to catch rainwater. Under normal conditions, turn the pile in two to three weeks and again in five weeks.

The moving of the piles will cause oxygen to be added to the pile, and it will mix up the ingredients for better decomposition. If two compost bins are built side-by-side instead of having just one, it will expedite the turning process.

Heat tends to aid in the decomposition process and if made in the fall, decomposition will be slow until spring and summer. However, the fall and winter are good times to collect leaves and other forms of organic matter to build compost bins or tumblers for the upcoming season.

Remember, most green plant materials and fresh manure decompose faster than dry, brown materials and produce more heat.

Of course, if you do not enjoy the thrill of a challenge and the gained satisfaction of making something yourself and saving money, then you can purchase compost bark and manure.

Until next week, this is Randy Smith saying, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and compost can save you several pennies.

For more information on compost bins, call the Hancock County Extension Office at 467-5456 or your trained, local nurserymen.

IN BRIEF

TRINITY CHRISTIAN

Trinity Christian Academy hosted a pizza party September 20 for students in honor of the school's tenth birthday.

JACKSON STATE
Moscow, Miss. native and Vanderbilt University history professor Dr. Jimmie Lewis Franklin will be the keynote speaker at Jackson State University's 113th Founder's Day banquet.

The banquet will be Oct. 19 in the General Purpose Room of the Jacob L. Reddix Campus Union.

Theme for this year's banquet is "Fulfilling the Vision through Giving." Tickets are $15 and are available through the JSU Office of Development at 968-2282.

characteristics. It tends to form a soil that is moist and well-drained which improves the growth potential of sandy and clay soils.

Compost also provides certain plant nutrients such as nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Since the nitrogen is primarily in an organic form, it is slowly released over a period of time. The slow release of nitrogen makes it less susceptible to leaching and protects the plants from our tendency to overfertilize. You know what I am referring to, the little works great, so a lot works better philosophy.

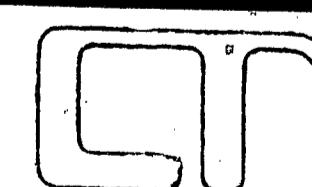

Compost is generally something you make yourself from garden and kitchen waste, from materials resulting from normal yard chores such as leaves and grass clippings or from hauled-in materials such as sawdust, straw or hay. Whatever you in a bin made of cinder blocks, rough board or wire fence. Remember that the sides of the bin should not be air tight or water tight. Be sure not to build a compost pile against a wood building or fence since the degradation process may include the wooden structure.

The compost pile should be constructed by utilizing alternating layers of organic matter, soil, fertilizer and water.

First you should spread a layer of organic matter about six inches deep on top of the ground. One cup of a mixed fertilizer (6-8-8) should be added to each 10 square feet of surface area. Once this is done, add one inch of soil and enough water to moisten, but do not soak the pile.

A cup of limestone should be added to each layer to
